INDONESIAN JOURNAL OF OBSTETRICS AND GYNECOLOGY
Indones J Obstet Gynecol
Majalah Obstetri dan Ginekologi Indonesia

CONTENT
Volume 3, Number 3, Page 121 – 182, July 2015

Editorial
Junita Indarti
Jakarta

Research Articles
Darrell Fernando
Rachmat Dediat
Jakarta

123 Husband's Support is a Main Factor Associated with Contraceptive Practices
Husband's support is a main factor associated with contraceptive practice. The choice of contraceptive method should be adjusted according to the ability and desire of patients to prevent failures in family planning.

Suntoro
I Putu G Kayika
Jakarta

127 Female Sexual Function at Three Months Post-delivery in Spontaneous Labor and Cesarean Section
Spontaneous labor is statistically significant for sexual dysfunction at three months post-delivery, especially for sexual encouragement and orgasm accession. Meanwhile, the variables with the age of 30 years old or older of age were influential on sexual dysfunction, especially to the sexual stimuli variable.

Aryati
Lulut Kusumawati
Agus Sulistyono
Surabaya

133 Diagnostic Value of IGF-1 Rapid Test and Combined IGF-1-AFP in Vaginal Fluid from Premature Rupture of Amniotic Membranes
Combined IGF-1-AFP rapid test has a better diagnostic value than IGF-1 rapid test alone.

Arie A Polim
Ivan R Sini
Indra NC Anwar
Caroline Hutomo
Aryando Pradana
Kurniawan
Erliana Fani
Jakarta

140 CC-Human Menopausal Gonadotropin Combined with Growth Hormone in Mini-stimulation Protocol could Improve Clinical Outcome in Poor Ovarian Responders
CC-HMG regimen in mini-stimulation protocol is an effective option in poor responders. Additional GH in mini-stimulation program provided a higher number of top quality embryos in women older than 40 years old, although there were no difference in clinical or ongoing pregnancy rate.

Rudy Hasan
Eddy Suparman
Rudy A Lengkong
Manado

146 Endometrial Histology in Abnormal Uterine Bleeding with Risk Factors
There is a significant relationship between BMI and high fasting blood glucose with endometrial hyperplasia.

Muharam Natadisstra
Riyan H Kurniawan
Devi M Malik
Jakarta

151 Pentoxifylline as a Therapy for Thin Endometrial Lining in Infertility
There was significant improvement of endometrial lining after pentoxifylline therapy.

Nuring Pangastuti
Junizaf
Ibuu Pranoto
Budi I Santoso
Tyas Priyatini
Yogyakarta, Jakarta

154 IIb-IV Degree Perineal Rupture Repair Using Overlapping and End-to-End Techniques with Pudendal Block Anesthesia
There was no difference in the incidence of persistent sonographic anal sphincter defects, fecal urgency, anal incontinence, and fecal incontinence, after IIb-IV degree perineal rupture repair using overlapping technique in comparison with end-to-end technique.

Tofan W Utami
Jasmine Iskandar
Gregorius Tanamas
Mona Jamtani
Laila Nuranna
Kartiwa H Nuryanto
Jakarta

161 Accuracy of Intraoperative Frozen Section in Diagnosing Malignancy of Ovarian Neoplasm
We found that the accuracy of intraoperative frozen section in our facility is adequate to diagnose ovarian neoplasm and can be used to assist in determining the extent of surgical management.

Rustham Basyar
Agustrya Z Saleh
Irawan Sastradinata
Yuwono
Palembang

165 p53 Gene Codon 72 Polymorphisms among Cervical Carcinoma Patients
Proline mutation to Arginine in gene p53 P72R is one of the risk factor for cervical carcinoma.

Bram Pradipta
Andrijono
Ahmad Fuady
Jakarta

170 Effect of Smoking on Advanced Stage Cervical Cancer Patient Survival
In our study, smoking habits do not aggravate survival rate of advanced stage cervical cancer patients but further research must be done with more sample. Stage, and tumor size both by physical examination and ultrasound can be used as the prognostic factor.

Case Series
Agung B Setiyono
Alamsyah Aziz
Agus Sulistyono
Johannes C Mose
Bandung, Surabaya

177 Pereira Suture: an Alternative Compression Suture to Treat Uterine Atony
Pereira suture is an alternative surgical procedure for the treatment of uterine atony after failed conservative management.